Michael L. Brown

Mike Brown is a rare breed of attorney. He is the firm's main contact with the American Institute of Architects Continuing Education Services, which keeps him busy when he attends national conferences. Mike provides continuing education services to the firm's architecture and engineering clients. He's involved in the local AIA Kansas City chapter.

While Mike's practice is concentrated in professional liability including civil litigation, commercial litigation, construction and design, he is more business-oriented than the average attorney. His approach keeps him involved with the negotiation and formation of businesses and various other needs of the business. He's also versatile enough to serve their litigation needs. He has federal and state jury trial experience in Kansas and Missouri. Simply put, your business can't lose with Mike on your side.
