The Banking and Financial Services group believes the simple edict that “time is money and money is time.” This concept drives our responsive, practical counsel in all matters of financing. We are dedicated to resolving our clients’ disputes in a no-nonsense manner.

Our attorneys represent lenders and borrowers in virtually every aspect of the financial relationship, from the initiation of traditional asset-based loans, mezzanine financing, and loan participations, to transitional loan restructurings and workouts, and concluding with enforcement actions and bankruptcy.

Clients include traditional banks and other financial institutions. We also work with regional and national specialty finance companies, assisting them with legal and strategic issues relating to consumer credit, licensing, commercial law, and regulatory compliance with state and federal law, as well as preventing and resolving issues with regulators.

Don’t waste your time (or money) with other law firms. Use the experience of Wallace Saunders’ attorneys to guide your financial institution through any legal matter.
