

PRACTICE AREA

Design Professionals

Architects, engineers, construction managers, licensed site professionals and their firms have long relied on the Design Professionals Group at Wallace Saunders for comprehensive legal services. Our experienced team can handle any legal need that may arise, including regulatory and professional liability claims, advice concerning professional liability insurance, and representation in fee and contractual disputes with clients. Our highly experienced trial lawyers have represented clients in jury and nonjury cases, in both state and federal courts across the country.

Before claims arise, or before a shovel hits the ground, our team can provide you with a wide array of risk management services, including contract review, advice on professional registration matters and representation before boards of registration on disciplinary matters.

We are also experienced in providing continuing education to our clients. We are AIA/CES approved, and have a long list of topics for our clients to choose from. The Design Professionals Group has the knowledge and the skills necessary to support and defend you and your company.
